Flying the Flag at Home

Prior to the Civil War, flags were really only flown in an official capacity on ships, forts and government buildings. "In the antebellum period, if a citizen had flown his flag on his house or carriage, people would have thought that was strange. Why is he doing that? He's not the government," said Ansoff, president of the North American Vexillological Association.

The outbreak of war in 1861 quickly changed Americans' attitudes about displaying the flag.

"At the beginning of the Civil War there was an outburst of patriotism," Ansoff said, "and very soon, you saw people flying flags everywhere to show their support for the cause."

Why an Eagle?

The bald eagle is our national symbol. It was chosen over the objection of Benjamin Franklin, who campaigned for the turkey to be our national bird. Other than Ben Franklin, bald eagles have few natural enemies. They mate for life and build huge nests in the tops of large trees near rivers, lakes, marshes, or other wetland areas. Nests are often reused year after year. With additions to the nests made annually, some may reach 10 feet across and weigh as much as 2,000 pounds. So, naturally, the bald eagle feels quite at home on top of your flagpole.

Pennants have many uses

Colorful pennants are perfect for parties, festivals, and events. One of the most unique use of pennants is the modern-day substitute of the scarecrow. It seems that somewhere down the line, the crow got wise to the stuffed man in the field and it lost its effectiveness guarding the crops.

Recently, creative gardeners have adopted metallic pennants to reclaim their crops from the dastardly crow!

When displayed from a staff in a public auditorium, the flag of the United States of America should hold the position of superior prominence, in advance of the audience, and in the position of honor at the speaker's right as he faces the audience. Any other flag so displayed should be placed on the left of the speaker or to the right of the audience.

What about in church?

In the 1840s, the Nativist Riots were directed against Catholics fearing sovereignty of the Pope over the laws of the country. We advise not making a political issue over the flags. Some choose not to fly the US flag inside the church, to avoid the conflict. Most prefer to have the US flag in the church, to recognize that our Freedom of Religion is one of the extraordinary, distinguishing and precious freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution.

Applique Craftsmanship

Applique is the oldest form of flag making. Each color, design, layer and individual letters are hand cut and sewn on the front and back side of the flag to create the image (kind of like quilting). Applique is used for indoor and outdoor applications, but lends itself to big images and not small details. This craftsman process of construction produces an elegant flag and is perfect for a small run or one of a kind flag.

Flag Color Symbolism

According to Ancient and Heraldic traditions there is a vast amount of symbolism associated with the color of a nation's flag. The full development of heraldry in about 1200AD also brought sophisticated design of flags, some of which includes a Coat of Arms or the St. Andrews Cross. The colors on different flag symbols represent the following:

Yellow Flags: A symbol of generosity

White Flags: A symbol of peace and honesty

Red Flags: A symbol of hardiness, bravery, strength & valor

Blue Flags: A symbol of vigilance, truth and loyalty, perseverance & justice

Green Flags: A symbol of hope, joy and love and in many cultures have a sacred significance

Black Flags: A symbol of determination, often reflecting the ethnic heritage of the people
